

S.T.E.P. Series

Outdoor Field Trips based on the Salmon & Trout Education Program

Guadalupe River Park Conservancy's S.T.E.P. series consists of exciting one-day field trips that focus on the Chinook Salmon and Steelhead Rainbow Trout that make their way up the Guadalupe River each year and the healthy watershed required to support these keystone species.

Our series is designed so that students may return year after year and have a different experience.

This field trip series was made possible by a generous grant from the eBay Foundation.

Interested in bringing S.T.E.P. to your classroom? Training and certification is offered each January through the Monterey Bay Salmon & Trout Project. Visit www.mbstp.org for more information.
